

102 COUNTIES HAVE STUDENTS DURING TERM

Down State Counties Are Represented by Large Number

RANDALL IN LEAD

Potter Second, With Panhandle Counties Following

One hundred two different counties in Texas are represented in the student body of the College this summer. Many of the students have travelled hundreds of miles to be here for the cooler summer climate which this region affords. Some of them have come from Henderson, Hidalgo, Harris, Smith, Nueces, Navarro, Lampasas, and Tarrant counties.

Randall county leads with 104 students, and Potter county follows with 63 enrolled. Both these figures are under those of the same time last year.

East Panhandle counties are here in large numbers, Hall, Collingsworth, Wheeler and Gray having 31, 30, 29, and 26, while Childress, Hardeman, and Willbarger have 22, 12 and 11. Donley county has 23 students in Canyon.

Although the first half of the summer session is only slightly more than one third over, many inquiries are being received about the second six weeks' term. Many students who have incomplete courses are making every effort to return to college during the last half of the summer and complete these courses before the semester plan goes into effect this fall. It is expected that the demand for this type of work will greatly increase the enrollment over the last six weeks.

Highway Contract Let Tuesday For Completion No. 9

McKnight Company, Inc., of Amarillo was awarded the contract Tuesday to complete highway No. 9 from Canyon to Happy.

The 16.6 miles will be given a double surface bituminous surfacing at the cost of $25,443.

This contract completes the highway building program of the county under the $250,000 bond issue which was voted several years ago to provide a highway across the county from north to south, and from Canyon west to the county line. The county's share of construction has been met as a result of this bond issue.

It is reported that the state is not satisfied with the topping used on No. 33 running west from Canyon, and believes that a more permanent structure must be put down. A large portion of the gravel topping has been thrown to the side of the grade by the traffic, necessitating constant maintenance.

Another state highway will be started as soon as the Palo Duro Park project is finally settled, according to officials who are in close touch with the situation. This highway will run east from Canyon across the canyon to connect with the extension south from Claude. It is likely that the Palisades Park will be connected with this highway by running south from Amarillo to the Palisades, and then south to a connection east of Canyon. This matter is being held up until definite information has been received as to the completion of the park project. The type of construction will also depend upon the attitude of the state highway department.

SHALL WE VOTE REPEAL OF THE 18TH AMENDMENT

Rev. C. W. Foote of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. J. R. Hicks of the First Baptist Church will each discuss this subject from his pulpit next Sunday morning, June 25.

Each of these ministers consider this a moral question and will base their remarks upon the teaching of the Bible and upon established historical facts concerning the liquor traffic.

They are anxious to have full houses present for worship that the people may be better prepared to vote on August 26.

F. P. Bradley of Fort Worth is visiting his sister, Mrs. T. F. Ridgway.

Believe It Or Not; Prexy Hill Turns Water Witch

Among his many other accomplishments, President Joe Hill of W. T. has turned water witch. While The News is not authorized to advertise the services of the gentle Prexy as being available to those who are about to drill or dig for water, nevertheless, he is ever ready and willing to assist those in trouble.

It happened this way: John Shanklin, brother-in-law of Dr. Hill, has been locating water veins by the use of the forked stick, and has been 100% successful in Texas, Mexico, and Porto Rico.

Last Sunday the Shanklin and Hill families were at the Palo Duro when Dr. Hill asked Mr. Shanklin what this stuff was all about and expressed a desire to see how it was done. Having the necessary stick in his car, Mr. Shanklin proceeded to show Dr. Hill how to hold the stick, and set him out to seek a water vein. The stick turned in Dr. Hill's hands, just as it does in the hands of regular and authorized water witches.

And so we have in our midst another water witch.

Incidentally Jinks Currie told The News the other day that he spent a lot of money before he realized the importance of securing the services of a man with the forked stick. After digging a lot of dry holes on his ranch near the canyon, W. F. Heller located water for Mr. Currie by the forked stick method.)

J. H. Jowell Died Friday—Pioneer of County; Here 46 Yrs.

J. H. (Bud) Jowell died Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock following an illness of several days. The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. C. W. Foote. The active pall bearers were R. E. Baird, S. M. Downing, J. B. Gamble, L. A. Pierce, R. W. Foster and Newt Hileman.

Mr. Jowell was born at Graham, Texas, Oct. 26, 1856, being 76 years, 7 months and 21 days of age at his death. He came to Randall county 46 years ago and was employed on the T-Anchor ranch. He has been employed on various ranches of the county, and as a peace officer during this period of years. He was city marshal of Canyon for several years, was a deputy sheriff, and at the time of his death he was city and county jailor.

Mr. Jowell has been a member of the Methodist church for many years.

Surviving are two nephews and one niece: J. V. Young of Canyon, Towne Young of Dallas, and Mrs. Ruth Allman of Dallas.

Subscription To Canyon News Reduced to $1.00

The Canyon News subscription price has been reduced to $1.00 per year. The new rate will be effective for the balance of 1933.

In the face of increased prices on paper, ink, and other printing materials, The News makes this reduction in order to help the people who are finding it hard to "balance the budget."

It is very likely that the subscription price will be increased again to $1.50 to all on January 1, 1934.

The News wishes to go into every home in Randall county, and makes this inducement in order that all may feel that they can afford to be regular readers. As a matter of fact, thrifty buyers cannot afford to be without The News in order to take advantage of the bargains which are advertised weekly.

FOUR TRUCKS STOPPED HERE

Highway patrolmen stopped four trucks in Canyon at midnight Tuesday, and held them yesterday pending the arrival of the owner from Big Spring. The drivers were charged with having no permit from the Railroad Commission, and with defective lights. Local officers had nothing to do with the arrest of the drivers.

Senator and Mrs. J. W. Reid arrived Friday from Austin to spend the summer here. Their two sons are on a trip to the Chicago fair.

Wheat Harvest Gets Start; Yield Surprise

First Loads Received Here Sat.; Some Making 17 Bushels

Randall county is in the midst of the wheat harvest.

Just what the harvest will be, no one is willing to predict, although grain men state that the county's yield will be larger than anticipated.

The test is running high, and the wheat should continue to bring a good price, owing to the high protein of this section, which is so much in demand by the millers.

The first wheat reached Canyon Saturday afternoon. Albert Byars and Jim Jennings were the first to unload the 1933 product. Mr. Byars sold his first load to J. H. Cox, Jr., at the Farmers Elevator, while Felix Neff bought the Jennings load at the Felix Neff Elevator. Both arrived at about the same time.

The Byars wheat was testing 60 Saturday, and the balance of the crop was expected to test 61. His crop will make about 12 bushels to the acre. The Jennings crop was running about the same.

It is reported that W. G. Rose has some wheat which is making 17 bushels to the acre, with a test of 61.

George Schneider stated Monday that he had 100 acres of wheat which will make a good yield, and 100 acres which is not so good.

Felix Neff stated yesterday that while it was predicted a month ago practically no wheat would be shipped from Randall county, he now believed that at least 35 car loads would be shipped from Canyon.

T. C. Thompson states that the wheat yield is a most agreeable surprise over the county. He is in touch with the farmers in every section, and the wheat is yielding more than anticipated.

D. L. Adams of Wayside was in the city yesterday and states that the early wheat in his section is a disappointment, but the late wheat is making a good yield. Mr. Adams states that the electric storms damaged the early wheat very badly.

WILL MAKE TRIP TO THE WORLD'S FAIR SUNDAY

Several Canyon people will leave next Sunday for the world's fair at Chicago on the special train being sponsored by the Amarillo News-Globe.

Among those listed to make the trip are Mrs. E. D. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Harrell and daughter, Shirley, Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel and Miss Lillian J. Atkins.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill returned Saturday from Austin where they spent last week.

Large Number of W. T. Grads Have Secured Work

This year's graduates of W. T. are better off so far as jobs are concerned than those of most colleges throughout the United States. Of the 81 members of the June class, 30 or 24.69 per cent already have teaching positions, and another five or 6.17 per cent have other employment.

This is 10.77 per cent higher than the employment expectation of college graduates throughout the United States for 1933, according to Ray H. Legate, secretary of the Intercollegiate Young Alumni with headquarters in New York. The statistics of this organization show that only about 20 per cent of this year's graduates will secure employment during the current year.

It is expected that at least 65 per cent of the graduates of this college will secure employment by the end of the year.

H. O. Price Not Leader in Amendment Campaign

H. O. Price has written Major E. A. Simpson of Amarillo that he will not accept the chairmanship of Randall county for the Texas Liberal Legion, which organization seeks to carry the constitutional amendment to legalize beer on August 26th. Mr. Price was named at the Panhandle meeting of this organization last Thursday to lead the campaign in this county.

Mr. Price stated that he had not been informed whether or not a chairman had been appointed by Major Simpson, and whether or not any meetings would be held in the county by those favoring the beer amendment.

Second Edition of Batchelder's Text Has Been Printed

"Practical Speech Units," a text by C. Wesley Batchelder, has been printed for a second edition by the Warwick Printing Company.

The text was printed last year and the first edition sold to students of the college. The book has proven very popular in the Speech department. Part of the first edition was sold to C. I. A. where Earl C. Bryan is teacher in the Speech department. Information has been received from other schools regarding the text.

"It Certainly Paid Me..."

A new establishment opening in Canyon recently, used coupon advertising in both handbills and The Canyon News.

"The newspaper coupons were presented many times over the handbill coupons," was the report given.

News advertisements reach the people who buy, whereas most handbills are thrown away.

The News is welcomed into the homes of Randall County. You never see a copy thrown into the waste paper basket at the postoffice, as you have circulars and handbills.

The handbill thrown on the porch may be read by one person who picks it up to clear the premises, but the News is read by every member of the family.

Invest your advertising money in the News, where results are assured.

"Governor Ross" Is Inmate in Jail—Insane Charge Pending

"Governor Ross" is the only name which a tourist will give as his name. He was picked up in Plainview and lodged in the Randall county jail. Either criminal or insane charges will be filed against the "Governor," states Sheriff Bob Barnett.

Saturday afternoon No. 22 on the Santa Fe hit two cross ties which had been piled on the track north of town. It was fortunate that both were old and rotten and did not wreck the train which was traveling at 75 miles per hour.

Monday afternoon a cross tie was discovered on the railroad south of Canyon. No train happened to be due at that time.

"Governor Ross" admitted that he arrived in Canyon sometime after No. 22 had passed, spending the night, Sunday and Monday morning here, and left for Plainview Monday afternoon. Farmers living near the railroad state to the sheriff that he went down the railroad tracks. "The Governor" says that in the Plainview jail the prisoners took $3.00 away from him, and he is going to Austin to increase taxes so he will get his money back. He says that he has just returned from New Mexico where he has been governor, and might go over to Oklahoma to be governor, "as they don't much like Alfalfa Bill over there." He says that he voted for "Ma" Ferguson, and is a friend of Jim. He accurately describes a number of towns in Texas.

PALO DURO PARK NOT YET ASSURED

State Officials May Not Be Convention Delegates

The attorney general's department has ruled that no state official may be a delegate to either the prohibition or anti-prohibition convention in regard to the beer amendment.

The names of Senator Morris Sheppard and President J. A. Hill were submitted to the attorney general for a decision.

The department ruled last week that Senator Sheppard, author of the 18th amendment, could not be a delegate to the convention. Governor Ferguson has named the Senator as chairman of the prohibition convention.

This week the name of Dr. J. A. Hill was submitted by the prohibition forces to the attorney general and the decision was rendered Tuesday by Elbert Hooper of the department, who stated that the constitution says, "the accounting officers of this state shall neither draw nor pay a warrant upon the treasury in favor of any person for salary or compensation as agent, officer or appointee who holds at the same time any other office or position of honor, trust or profit under this state or the United States."

"While this constitutional provision would not disqualify the president of a teachers college from holding the office of delegate to the November convention, it would prohibit him from receiving any compensation as president of the teachers college, since the office of delegate is an office of trust under this state," Hooper wrote in his opinion.

"The same constitutional provision would apply in like manner to any other employee of the state supported school system who is similarly circumstanced to the president of a teachers college."

West Side Club Entertains Rotary Club Tuesday

Reid, honorary member of the Canyon Club, was with the Canyon Rotarians.

The International Service Committee was in charge of the program. Dr. Marvin Saddoris acting as chairman. As an international theme for the occasion, Bill Smith, dispenser of natural gas, gave a description of a Jewish wedding, which was attended by members of the race, as well as an Irishman.

The Club thanked the West Side Club for the splendid luncheon served upon this occasion.

Farmers to Seek More Liberal Val-use on Farm Loans

Representative farmers from the Panhandle section met in Amarillo Thursday to organize in an effort to secure better valuations for farm loans. Appeal will be made to Washington through a committee appointed to take the farmers' plea to the federal government.

Congressman Marvin Jones has been asked to assist the farmers in securing better valuations when loans are made through the Federal Land Bank.

John E. Hill of Amarillo was elected president of the group. G. F. L. Bishop of Canyon was elected director from this county. John E. Hill, Grover B. Hill of Amarillo and Frank Paul of Panhandle were elected to go to Washington.

OBJECTION IS RAISED TITLE OF THE LAND

New Deed and Contract Is Drawn Yesterday at Austin

SMALL IN CHARGE

Emory on Way to Washington Where Connally, Jones Helping

Objection to the title of the Byars Bros. land raised Saturday in Austin has caused the Palo Duro Park project to be cancelled Saturday afternoon, and the men from the reforestation camp who were scheduled to be moved here were assigned to other work. Every effort possible is being made to have the Palo Duro restored and it was believed yesterday that the project will certainly be accepted before many days.

It so happened that Senator Clint Small, Fred A. Emory and J. B. Elliston, all greatly interested in the park, arrived in Austin Monday morning just at the time when the park situation was in jeopardy, and when it looked that the whole scheme could not be accomplished. Senator Small took charge of the situation, ironing out the legal questions as raised by the Attorney General, and the Governor's office. New deeds and contracts were signed by Mr. Emory, in whose name the land has been carried. Approval of the new papers was made yesterday by the attorney general, and Mr. Emory left for Washington where he will present the new papers to the federal authorities.

Senator Tom Connally and Congressman Marvin Jones are doing everything possible in Washington, and will assist Mr. Emory when he arrives there with the new papers.

In the meanwhile, the southwestern manager of the federal park system in Denver has ordered a personal inspection of the Palo Duro by one of the federal officials with a view of making certain that the property is something which the federal government may properly develop.

Rapid developments of the past week, and the uncertainties connected with the enterprise has caused much concern for local com- (Continued on last page)

Goodnight Farmer Takes Advantage Agricultural Dept.

C. M. Hudson of Goodnight is the first farmer of Armstrong County to avail himself of the cow testing service offered by mail by the Agriculture department of the West Texas State Teachers College. This service is made possible by the co-operation of the Armstrong County Farm Agent.

These tests are made to determine which cows of a herd are profitable to keep and which should be disposed of because of low butterfat production. The farmer who carries on a test in this way also learns the approved methods of keeping books on a test program. This type of testing has been going on in the agriculture department for about two years.

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 PER YEAR
(A special rate of $1.00 per year is effective to January 1, 1934.)

Entered at the postoffice at Canyon, Texas, as second class matter. Published weekly at office, 1513 Fourth Avenue, Canyon, Texas.

No President in peace times has been able to put over his campaign promises as has President Roosevelt. He landed in the White House well prepared for the job. For 20 years his eyes have been focused on the White House, and with a determination to land there some day, he has made an intense study of national problems. The experts along various business lines have marveled at the wonderful insight that the President has had of the problems at hand. No sooner had he taken office than a national banking holiday was declared, congress was called and a complete program of major problems laid before the law makers. His driving powers have been the incentive behind every bill he has proposed. His vast storehouse of intimate knowledge of the problems at hand convinced congress that he knew more about the stupendous problems than did any of the political leaders. Congress was so amazed, so dumbfounded, so willing to shift the impending dangers of radical legislation to other shoulders, that the President's program was readily accepted. Most of the law makers were so stupefied that they could not even debate the measures presented. The only fly in the ointment which came near to obstructing the President's program was the economy measure to reduce pensions. Congressmen and Senators rely on their jobs very largely on account of the size of the pension measures they succeed in passing. It is a most deplorable system, but nevertheless one that few politicians are willing to tackle. It is always popular to increase pensions, always most unpopular to even think of reducing pensions. The President whipped a partial victory over the high pension politicians. The News regrets to see Senator Tom Connally of Texas throwing in with the bunch which has been raiding the national treasury, but at the same time we realize that the successful politician lives not by the sweat of his brow, but by the taxes he is able to extract from the public to pay pensions.

Governor Ferguson has vetoed five bills passed by the legislature. Five bills were vetoed in two days during the past week. One bill was the limit of the ad valorem rate. The Governor rightly set out that the legislature should reduce state expenses if it wished the rate reduced, as it is foolish to say that the rate shall be limited when it will take a much higher rate than the constitutional limit in order to run the state's business; another bill sought to allow the penitentiary to do the state's printing, which the Governor pointed out was opposed to the principal of free labor; another would limit the amount of confederate pensions, which are now very low; another bill would have established a central mailing system in the capitol, which was proposed two years ago, and turned down because of the great expense attached; the other veto is a slap at the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, which advocated and secured the passage of a bill to increase hunting and fishing licenses. The News believes that the Governor was correct in these veto messages, unless it was on the last one.

Chas. K. Needham, former publisher of The News, says: They do say that President Roosevelt is watching the antics of the stock market pretty closely these days and may take to the air soon to broadcast a warning to the amateur ticket tape eaters who lost their shirts not so long ago, to hold on to their enthusiasms and also their pants, or they may find themselves without a thing to wear. It is said that the administration is determined that its inflationary measures shall go toward releasing credit to business expansion and revival purposes and not into the wide hoppers of speculation. The high pressure boys are already on the long distance dangling quick profits on the wire. Some eloquent gink back in Boston called me the other day and begged me with tears in his voice to buy Western Television stock before it was everlastingly too late to get rich. The only thing that stopped me was the fact that I was down to 42 cents in one bank and three dollars in the other. I couldn't remember owing a cent with that Sweet Buy and Buy song in my ears.

According to anti-prohibitionists, all of the crime of the day is simply because we don't have liquor. When liquor is returned, they tell us that all of the crime will be settled, and all of the national ills will be cured; we shall pay all of the national debts with liquor taxes, and prosperity will return. The sad thing is that so many of our people really believe this rot. Wonder if this bunch will advocate repealing the laws against murder, theft, arson, kidnapping, etc., etc., because these laws do not keep people from continuing to commit these crimes? The fact that the national government has never really attempted to enforce prohibition is no argument that the law is not doing some good. Please remember the saloon days, and see if you want a return of the open saloon with all of its vices.

In discussing the cancellation of the European loans, the facts are usually not understood by the public. Few people realize that the debts which are now due the United States are not war debts, but are debts for money borrowed of the United States since the close of the war. The war debts were largely cancelled during the past two years. It is extremely unfair to this nation that Europe is now attempting to have canceled the debts which were incurred since the war, as the money was not spent in defense of these nations but for the purpose of rebuilding their commerce.

The more we hear about the proposed $20,000,000 state bond issue, the bigger it looks as a joke. The proposition that it shall not become a lien upon real estate almost guarantees that the bonds cannot be sold, should the people vote in favor of the issue. If the bonds are issued, some kind of a tax must be set up to take care of the issue. We do not believe that the people will favor such a bond issue at this time not knowing how the payments will be met, and how the fund will be administered. The administration might cost too much of the money, unless it should be properly safe guarded.

Pity those who have to sit as a board of equalization these days. No one knows the value of any piece of property. It is worth only what it will bring at forced sale, which means that the boards of equalization have to figure out what the various divisions of government must have to have in order to get along on, and then set up the values accordingly. So long as bonds are outstanding and interest payments must be met, taxes will continue high regardless of what property is worth.

Jackets Enhance Summer Wardrobe

A SHORT-SLEEVED FROCK WORN WITH LONG-SLEEVE MATCHING COAT IS FINE FOR OFFICE, HOME OR STREET WEAR

BY HARRIET

JACKET costumes are the highlight in this summer's fashions.

Dresses with their own jackets are invaluable assets to a summer wardrobe. The office worker knows the full value of a short-sleeved frock with long-sleeved matching coat. She wears the jacket to work, being certain that she is properly clad on the commuting train and on the street. The jacket comes off inside the office and the dress is cool and summery.

A good idea for a girl who goes to business is to have an extra set of lingerie collars and cuffs and some clean white gloves in her desk at all times. When the day's work is over and she sets forth for tea or dinner there remains no trace of office dust.

You must know full well that an evening gown with the proper jacket saves you the price of a dinner dress. It is best to have jackets of identical design and material for evening frocks. They should have high necks and sleeves. Long sleeves with plenty of fullness at the elbow are chic. But if you can't bear to wear long sleeves all through a dinner in the summer by all means don't overlook the charming short ones that are made with huge puffs. Remove the jacket and you're all set for formal occasions.

Spectator and active sports costumes come in for their share of little coats too. It is convenient to don a jacket after you have finished a game of tennis. Yachting outfits almost invariably are made with jackets.

You don't necessarily need to have all your jackets match the dresses with which you wear them. White dresses are smart with gay-colored jackets and dark dresses are dressed up considerably by white coats.

Linen and pique swaggar coats in seven-eighths and three-quarters lengths are real innovations. You can wear them for evening wraps, over street dresses and for spectator sports events. They go into the tub and come out looking fresh and new.

A CHARMING vacation ensemble consists of a white sleeveless dress and dark blue jacket. Blue and white polka dotted silk fashions the scarf and belt on the dress.

The youthful jacket frock in beige, accented by brown, as shown at left, is of crepe gabardine. Inverted pleats and a close-fitting hip yoke distinguish the frock. At right, a white dress of "check sheer" is worn with a dark blue jacket. Blue and white polka-dotted silk fashions the scarf and belt on the dress.

The dress of "check sheer" is cut along straight, slim lines with slightly flaring skirt. The cape-sleeved, hip-length jacket makes the dress very practical. It is a tennis dress by itself. With the jacket it becomes a spectator sports ensemble.

The hat is cellophane straw with a medium brim. The gloves are white pique and the kid pumps are blue to match the jacket.

Ideal for office wear is this jacket costume of crepe gabardine

Today there is more sentiment and brotherly feeling manifested in the world than for many generations.

Report of the Annual Meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., June 5, 1933

BOSTON, Mass., June 5.—Word that no further contributions to the fund for the building of the new $400,000 home now being erected for The Christian Science Publishing Society need be made after July 1, was announced here today at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Members from many lands—more than 5000 in all—heard the message from the Directors, read by Mr. Charles E. Heltman, chairman, which hailed the "sacrifice and unselfed efforts" of those "who have made possible the completion of the new Publishing House without delay and without debt."

Announcement was made of the election of the following officers:

President—Miss Mary C. Ewing of Brookline, Mass.

Clerk—Ezra W. Palmer of Brookline, Mass.

Treasurer—Edward L. Ripley of Brookline, Mass.

Miss Mary C. Ewing is a native of Quincy, Ill. She received her schooling in that city and in Chicago. Christian Science was first brought to the attention of her family through the healing of her father, Judge William C. Ewing. Her mother, Mrs. Ruth B. Ewing, subsequently became a pupil of Mrs. Eddy, and a teacher of Christian Science. Miss Ewing first received instruction in Christian Science from her mother, and later in 1910, from the Board of Education of The Massachusetts Metaphysical College in a Normal Class.

The new President served as a Second Reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Chicago, of which she is a member. From 1918 to 1926 she was a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church. She retired from that Board to become a Trustee of The Christian Science Pleasant View Home and The Christian Science Benevolent Association in Boston, from which positions she resigned in 1931 to become a member of the Bible Lessons Committee which prepares the Lesson Sermons used in the Sunday services of Christian Science churches.

Never was the necessity of an applied and practical Christianity more apparent, Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, retiring President, declared in an address leading up to the introduction of his successor.

Never have the Directors of the mighty array represented by this great assemblage here today faced a more inspiring challenge for worldwide service. The breaking up of material beliefs may seem temporarily to present themselves in the guise of want and woe and famine until the work of those who are enlisted to vanquish error in every form shall make their nothing appear.

In her address, the new President, Miss Ewing, said in part:

"Perhaps never before in the history of the Christian Science movement has there been a time when the comfort and encouragement of our Annual Meeting could pour so rich a balm into our hearts, nor when its inspiration and blessing carried beyond these walls could mean so much to the world of human thought and endeavor. For today, that world is facing the claim of evil conditions in human affairs unprecedented in influence and extent—conditions which know no barriers of race, nation or tongue.

"In human experience, the regenerating influence of Truth begins with the individual, spreads from one individual to others, from group to group until eventually it must leave the whole mass of human thought. Then will wars cease and the true brotherhood of man be made apparent, be seen to be established and maintained by God's law; then will the bounty of God's house be realized and men dwell together in security and peace."

In his message from the Board of Directors, Mr. Heltman said: "The growth of our Church was never more gratifying, the interest in its healing ministry never more pronounced, and the readiness of its members to meet the demands of the hour never more apparent than they are today. If proof of this latter statement were needed it would be necessary only to cite the prompt and generous manner in which branch churches, societies, associations, and individuals have responded to the call for funds to erect the new home for our Christian Science Publishing Society.

Primarily, of course, the new building is intended to provide adequate facilities for the publishing of our religious periodicals, our daily newspaper, and the writings of our revered Leader, Mary Baker Eddy. But it does something more, much more in fact, than simply meet a physical need great and pressing as that need may be. It stands and will continue to stand through the years to come, as a silent but none the less impressive witness to that unity, stability, and demonstrated resourcefulness which should at all times characterize the organized efforts of Christian Scientists, and which in this instance have made possible the completion of the new Publishing House without delay and without debt.

"The demands in respect to the erection of the material structure are fast drawing to a close. But there still remains an even greater responsibility—the responsibility of fulfilling the building's announced purpose, to proclaim the universal activity and availability of Truth."

Miss Rosamond Wright, manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners, cited the establishment of "a new branch of The Mother Church in Kenya, Africa, situated 2000 miles from the nearest branch church; also, our first branch in Egypt, at Cairo; and two new branches in Brazil, South America as well as five additional branches in Australasia. These represent the distant points to which the arms of The Mother Church have extended since our last Meeting.

"In addition 21 new branches have been formed in Europe, and 42 in North America. Twenty-six Christian Science Societies have qualified for the title of Church. Five new college or university organizations have been formed. The Mother Church now has 2639 branch churches and societies, and 47 college and university organizations."

An outstanding example of how public thought is being "leavened" in regard to Christian Science was cited by the Hon. C. Augustus Norwood, Manager of Committees on Publication, in the annual report of activities within his department. The "incident" referred to was the poll which was conducted to determine America's 12 greatest women of the past 100 years which gave Mary Baker Eddy "the recognition which was clearly due her."

Mr. Norwood disclosed that "news stories of this poll, many of which were accompanied by pictures of our Leader, were published not only in hundreds of papers in the United States, but also in hundreds of papers in other countries, thus indicating a broad interest in our organization and our religion, and in the great life-work of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science." The report also cited the "inspiring fruitage" which has resulted from the use of the radio provided by the Board of Directors. Mr. Norwood declared that the "Committees are grateful for the support that this latest method of calling Christian Science to the attention of a waiting world has received."

Noticeably larger audiences than usual at free public Christian Science lectures were cited in the report from The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, read by Judge Samuel W. Greene, chairman. Judge Greene reported that during the year ended April 30, 1933, the members of the Board of Lectureship delivered 3080 lectures on Christian Science to an estimated attendance of 2,955,174 persons. One of the two lectures delivered in Mexico City was the first to be presented in the Spanish language.

"The growth of The Mother Church goes on unfettered," Ezra W. Palmer, clerk, told members at the Annual Meeting. "During the past year devoted men and women from all walks of life have been received into membership."

"The Relief Fund of The Mother Church, which is available for temporary assistance following major disasters, has been drawn upon during the year for assistance to flood sufferers in England, and in West Virginia; for aid to hurricane victims in Puerto Rico; and for help in a section of California following the recent earthquake."

"Some relief work has been done in other sections of the United States, and in Germany, Holland, Estonia, Austria, Poland, Finland, and Canada. The charitable work carried on by the local congregation of The Mother Church through its local Charity Fund was augmented this past winter by a Special Unemployment Relief Fund which was established in cooperation with the city Campaign for the Relief of Unemployment. A Comforts Supply Committee has aided by distributing clothing and other necessities in this field."

A year of substantial achievement in the activities of The Christian Science Publishing Society was reported by Mr. Roland R. Harrison, manager. "Despite reduced advertising revenue from The Christian Science Monitor," the report says, "and lessened income in other directions, the Society reports an increase in net profits over the previous year, due largely to the publication of the new Hymnal, and to the loyal support of consecrated Christian Scientists."

"Operating on a basis of 'wisdom, economy and brotherly love,' economies were effected in the Publishing Society, and large savings made, through the stager system and in other ways, without a general reduction in the working force. Thus by refraining from adding to the world-wide problem of unemployment the Publishing Society has made a substantial contribution to social welfare."

208 Teachers Are Observing Work in Training School

Two hundred eight experienced or prospective teachers are observing or doing practice teaching in the Demonstration school of the West Texas State Teachers College this summer. Of this number 64 are working in the high school department, and 144 in the grades.

The demonstration school finds its work much heavier in the summer than during any other three months of the year, according to Professor F. E. Savage the superintendent. This is because most of the summer students of the college are experienced teachers, who have met class room problems and want to get help in solving them.

In the demonstration school they see expert teachers doing the different things they are called upon to do each day. They learn how to handle cases of discipline with other than "strong arm" methods. They get materials of all kinds, ranging from poetry, health maxims, music to hand work, and they learn how to devise substitutes for expensive school room equipment when there is no money with which to buy it. They learn how to teach the essentials of every subject in the light of conditions that prevail in the particular district where they teach.

Demonstration school teachers spend many hours each week in conference with teachers who want help in making lists of books to be bought for the libraries where they teach; information as pictures, hand work materials, supplementary materials for English, geography, history and other subjects. There is a great demand for helps which can be made or secured with little outlay of money. Besides the material helps which the observers and practice teachers get from the demonstration they look to it for encouragement and inspiration to keep their work up to the highest possible level during this time when hundreds of children are deprived of many pleasures and privileges which they usually get in their homes. "The demonstration school is a laboratory," says Professor Savage, "and in it there is manufactured not only ways of teaching but a happy attitude toward life and children. We need all these in America at this time." So the critic teachers and supervisors give their time from eight in the morning until five and later each day to help the public school teachers who find the Education Building the most helpful spot on the College campus.

DRY LAW REPEAL IS NOT ENOUGH

Unless all the signs are wrong the prohibition amendment is on the way out.

And while this will be the cue for most of us to rejoice or to weep, depending on our individual attitudes, it would be a very fine thing if we sat down quietly while there is still time, and figure out just what is going to come next.

We have set our faces toward repeal, apparently, and we have done it because the prohibition amendment hasn't worked out nearly as well as we expected it would.

In trying to abolish one set of abuses we saddled ourselves with a new set, and it begins to look as if we aren't going to put up with this new set very much longer.

But while we're getting rid of them, we want to make perfectly sure that we don't revive the old set.

The old-time saloon wasn't a great deal like the speakeasy, but it created evils just as real as those which the speakeasy has created.

It periodically disgorged frowzy drunks in such a way that it was unwise for women to appear unescorted on the streets at night.

It made a sore spot in the neighborhood which women actually feared to pass.

It was a festering breeding spot for rotten politics.

Now there is no sense in our forgetting those facts and pretending that anything at all will be better than the present era of bootleggers, rum runners, crooked officials and shady speakeasies.

We ought to be intelligent enough to find a system that would do away with the evils of the present regime without restoring the evils of the past.

We shouldn't do it if we try to kid ourselves into thinking that the evils of the past really didn't amount to much.

Finding the right solution is going to take a lot of earnest thinking.

We had better start thinking right now; and, in the process, we want to remember that we have two entirely distinct sets of abuses to correct, and not just one.—Daily News, Tucumcari, New Mexico.

Duncan Collection To Be Placed In the Museum Here

Floydada Hesperian: A listing is being made this week of the Historical Collection of the late Judge Arthur B. Duncan of this county, preparatory to its shipment to the Historical Museum at Canyon, Texas.

According to L. F. Sheffy, Field Secretary for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, this will be a valuable addition to the Museum, it being the outstanding collection connected with the Pioneer History and growth of the Plains.

This collection is being loaned to the Museum, it being the hope of Mrs. Duncan and her children that at some future time, Floyd County may own a Memorial Building of her own at which time the collection will be returned.

Among the articles and documents listed in the collection and of very special interest are the following:

A very old scrap book, property of Dr. William B. Duncan, father of Judge Arthur B. Duncan, dating from 1800—a part of it written in the Doctor's quaint and beautiful longhand.

A box of knitting needles, an old time tatting shuttle and a bit of dainty lace used in the early days by Elizabeth Vaden Duncan, mother of Judge Duncan, and herself

King George, 68, Ailing

a very early settler in Floyd County.

A series of newspapers published in Floyd County, dating back to the year 1893, which contain in themselves a minute history of those early days in Floyd County.

Original papers preparatory to filing on the first homestead in Floyd County, also a record of the personal brand used by Judge Duncan ("AD" Bar on the right, and "T" on the left).

An old charm string begun in Judge Duncan's boyhood and containing hundreds of charms and keepsakes, one a crystal button from the dress of Melie Knight, the Judge's very first sweetheart.

Old books the oldest being a book on baptism by Peter Edwards published in 1841; "Christian and her Children" published in 1850; "Thoughts on the book of Daniel," by Elisha Smith; "The Southern Psalmist," a book of very ancient poems, and a Holy Bible (of unknown date, having been in the family for generations).

Perhaps the item of greatest interest to Panhandle people, will be a series of letters to Judge Duncan from his attorney, G. M. Swink in a suit then pending in the courts at Austin, connected with the attaching of Floyd County to Crosby County for Judicial purposes, Floyd County at that time being attached to Donley County, Colonel Goodnight and others making a stiff fight to keep it so. In this connection is included the original petition headed by Judge Duncan with nineteen signatures, which was presented to the Legislature asking that said change be made. This was one of the first victories won by the settlers against the big cattle interests.

A very old bookcase, a filing cabinet, and "Dad's Old Arm Chair" these with a valuable walking cane, and a rare old vase, all of which are family heirlooms, together with valuable documents will complete the showing, all of which bear witness to an early day and of the Historic Chairs on Display With History Museum

In the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum here there are a number of chairs of historic interest, but none excites more curiosity than one which is made almost entirely of horns.

This chair was made in 1877 for H. B. Sanborn, whose name is linked with barbed wire and the end of the open range in Texas. From 1877 to 1893 Sanborn used this chair in his Houston office where thousands of miles of wire were sold. When he died in 1912 the chair was given by Mrs. Sanborn to her niece, Mrs. J. S. Bolton of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Bolton, presented it to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society in 1932. It was prominently placed in the Museum when it was opened to the public in April of this year.

WHO IS EDUCATED?

Amidst the confusion among various schools of thought regarding present-day education, it is really difficult to find a satisfactory yardstick with which to measure that elusive individual, the educated man.

Many hold the view that no one is truly educated unless he is familiar with the classics, proficient in several languages living and dead, versed in higher mathematics, and so on. Another school, while recognizing the desirability of classical education when circumstances permit, denies that the classicists have license to lord it over their more practical brethren, or to lay exclusive claim to real education.

In this connection a thought expressed by the Boston philanthropist, Edward A. Filene, is pertinent. He declares that "the educated mind today is the mind which best learns how to use the knowledge in existence, particularly those truths which apply to the thing which he is doing."

And that seems to be a very good definition.—Leader, Wellington.

An Indiana editor says the future is a dream. He should have added that the present is a nightmare.

Roosevelt Regimes Prove Thorn in Side of Moneyed Morgans

THE presence of a Roosevelt in the White House seems to be a bad omen for the members of another famous American family—that of J. P. Morgan, who heads the great Morgan banking firm. For the second time in the 20th century, the House of Morgan has come to grips with the government in a Roosevelt administration.

Back in 1902, President Theodore Roosevelt, distant cousin of the present executive, used his "Big Stick" on the Morgans to force the settlement of the great anthracite coal strike.

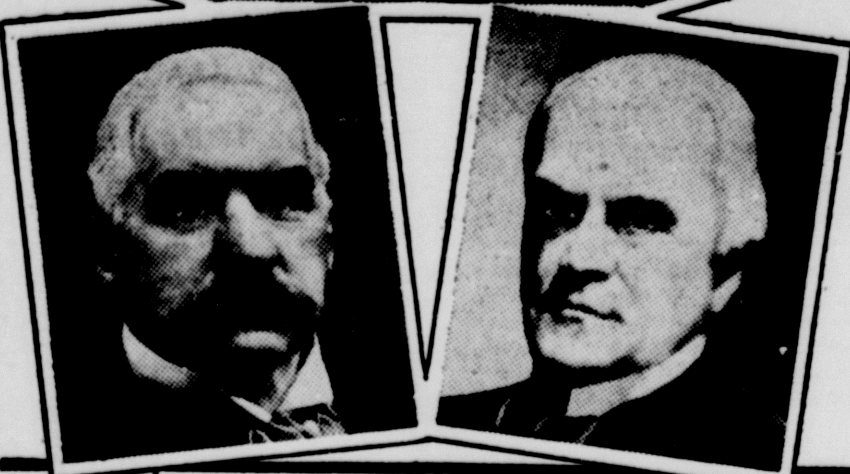

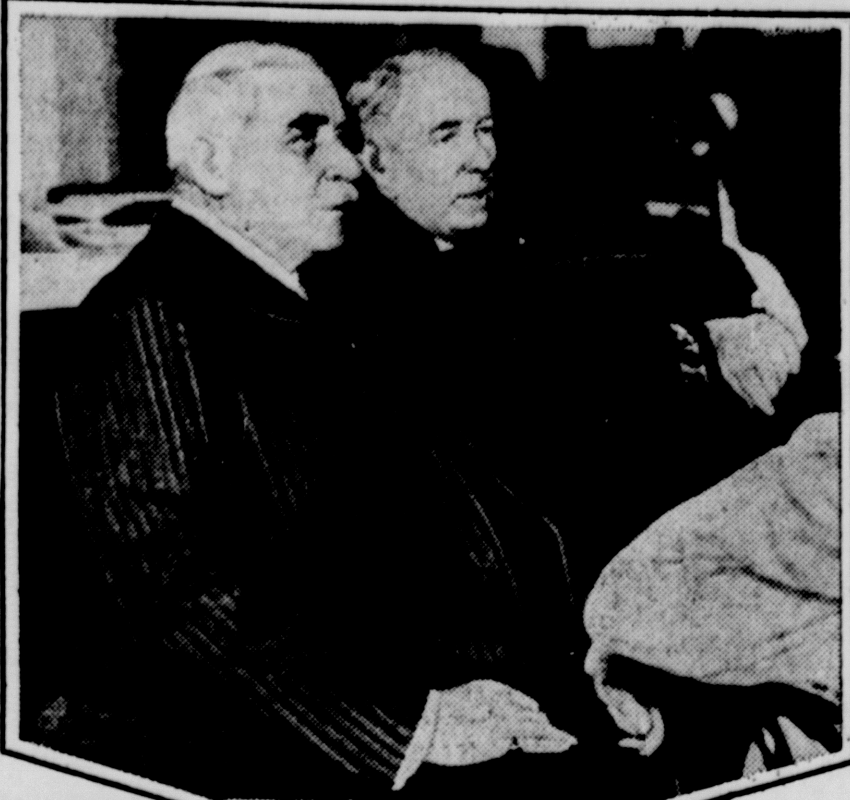

And now, in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's zeal for reform in banking practices, a Senate investigating committee has ripped aside the curtain to reveal secret activities of the firm.

THE story of the Morgan family in America begins with the arrival of Miles Morgan, an Englishman, in Boston in 1636. His distant descendant, Junius Spencer Morgan, founded the famous financial dynasty nearly two centuries later.

The son of a shrewd ex-farmer who built a tidy fortune in stagecoach lines, taverns and a fire insurance business, Junius Morgan was born on April 13, 1814. He rose from dry goods clerk at 16 to partner in a mercantile firm at 23. His ability brought him an offer of partnership from George Peabody, internationally famous London banker, and he soon became a leading figure in the English concern.

In 1856, Junius Morgan took into the business his son, J. Pierpont Morgan, 19, who had been educated in Europe. A year later, the lad was sent to America as a junior clerk in Peabody's New York office. He arrived just in time for a baptism of fire in the great panic of 1857. Soon afterward, young Pierpont left the Peabody concern to go into the banking and securities business for himself in New York City. During the Civil War, the youth made a neat fortune in a gold transaction. A little later he snatched control of the Albany & Susquehanna railroad from the famous financier, Jay Gould, by tactics that ran the gamut from court injunctions to gang fights.

Meanwhile, in England, his father had been busy. The elder Morgan had floated a $50,000,000 loan for France after that empire's terrible defeat by Germany. Flushed by success, Junius, through his son in America, turned to refunding the American Civil War debt. By this time, Pierpont had made an alliance with the Drexel banking house of Philadelphia. The new firm of Drexel, Morgan & Company divided the $400,000,000 Civil War project with Jay Cooke, the great financier.

In 1907 Morgan broke a panic by raising a pool of $250,000,000 and making loans discreetly. In this crisis, his son, J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., stood by his father's side. This representative of the third generation in the House of Morgan won favor on Wall Street by his coolness and courage.

When the elder J. P. Morgan died in 1913, his mantle fell on his son. Within a year the son was fated to carry through a money transaction vastly larger than any ever undertaken by his father. This was the half-billion dollar loan needed by the Allies for war supplies.

During and after the World War, the House of Morgan handled tremendous loans for many nations. Through interlocking directorates, it extended its control over a steadily-growing group of "big business" organizations. Thus it reached its present power as the world's greatest private banking institution.

Hesitate Before You Bring Liquor Back

(Extracts from an address by the great Southern orator and statesman, Henry W. Grady, at Atlanta, Ga., in 1887.)

My friends, hesitate before you vote Liquor back now that it is shut out.

Do not trust it.

It is powerful, aggressive and universal in its attacks.

Tonight it enters an humble

Tomorrow it challenges this Republic in the halls of Congress.

Today it strikes a crust from the lips of a starving child.

Tomorrow it levies tribute from the Government itself.

There is no cottage humble enough to escape it, no place strong enough to shut it out.

It is flexible to cajole but merciless in victory.

It is the mortal enemy of peace and order.

It is the despoiler of men, the terror of women.

Oh, My Countrymen, loving God and Humanity, do not bring this grand old city again under the dominion of that power!

It can profit no man by its return.

It can uplift no industry, revive no interest, remedy no wrong. You know that it cannot.

It comes to destroy, and it shall

HISTORY IN THE MAKING

History is still in the making. Today we are living in the most eventful time in all history. Old ways, old standards and old systems no longer can survive because they do not meet the needs of the day. No business, no community, state or nation can defy the law of progress by moving backward a generation. Progress and prosperity demands the cutting loose from all hampering precedent, and uniting our forces unselfishly to clear the ground for a new era.

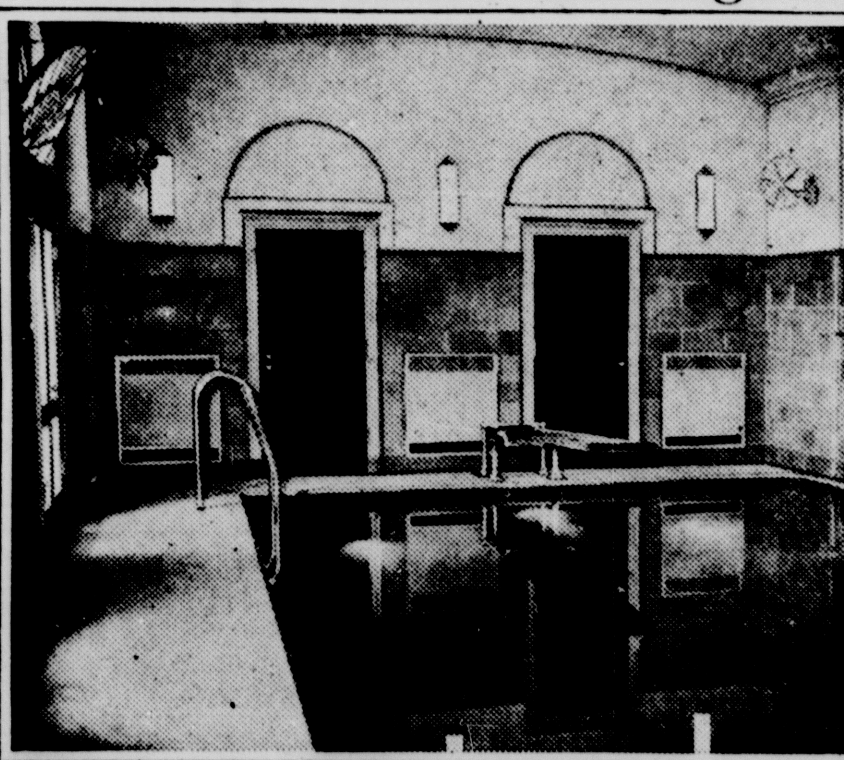

You can't solve the transportation problems of an airplane by going back to ox carts and saddle bags.

For those who have eyes to see, this is the test of civilization—the trial of America's fitness to survive. —Star-Clipper, Traer, Ia.

Reforest T-Anchor Headquarters Part of Plan by Moore

The preserving, restoring and developing the property of the old T-Anchor Ranch, a mile from Canyon, under Professor T. M. Moore of the College, is receiving much favorable comment and assistance from ranchers throughout this region.

From a ranch near Lakeview came a gift of 2000 salt cedar seedlings which in a few years will greatly beautify the part of the old ranch where they are planted. From another ranch in Randall county came a gift of 45 small cottonwood trees which will be planted where they will quickly reach moisture so that their growth will be rapid.

One of the largest ranches in Northwest Texas has given Mr. Moore 100 cubic yards of building sand to be used in improvements which have already been planned on the place.

From another source the ranch has received fifty yards of building sand and 24 truck loads of salvaged concrete and from still another place refuse concrete and brick and stone are coming to provide for the rip-rapping of the dam recently built on the farm.

Mr. Moore is having all the points of historic interest on the T-Anchor located and these will be suitably marked; these include the Tascosa Trail, several graves, the original cowboy swimming hole, the Trubey dugout and others.

Many people visit the old ranch each month, a great number including it in a trip to the Panhandle Plains Museum or around the Palo Duro Park Circle Drive.

mitties and citizens working for the park. Thursday afternoon word came that the park had been reported unfavorably on account of the water supply. At that time two dry holes had been drilled on the east side of the canyon, and the drillers had not reached the west side. The drilling outfit arrived at the west site at 5 o'clock Thursday, started to work, and by 8:00 o'clock the next morning had a splendid well which makes 15 gallons to the minute.

Saturday night members of the local committee were called to meet army officers in Amarillo the next morning, as a final inspection would be made. G. B. Heath, Fred E. Wortham and Clyde W. Warwick met with the Amarillo committee, and it was not until then that it was learned that the Palo Duro had been cancelled, although the Palisades had been accepted. The work army arrived yesterday at the Palisades, and the program of development will be started.

Water supply has been developed on both sides of the Palo Duro, the necessary pipe bought to carry the water from the wells to the camp sites, and the local committee is waiting word from the federal authorities to proceed with arrangements to receive the work troops. The word may come by the end of the week, or at least by the first of next week.

Brighten Vacation With Summer Suits

COTTON SUITS, ESPECIALLY LINEN AND PIQUE, FINE FOR TOWN WEAR, MOTORING AND THE BEACH, WHEN IT'S COOL

BY HARRIET

LITTLE summer suits do their bit toward making your vacation successful. They also add chic to your summer wardrobe for town wear.

You know full well that there will be plenty of days whether you are on vacation or staying in town when you'll need something besides sleeveless frocks. Unpretentious but truly smart little suits were made for use on those days.

Soft woolen suits are just the thing when you watch a sports event on a cold, rainy day. For the best of vacations do bring forth one or two unpleasant days as far as the weather is concerned. You can be sure that some days in town aren't going to be all funny and bright either. So why not plan your wardrobe, remembering the gray days as well as the blue ones?

Suits are so suave and subtle this summer that they might be ideal street frocks or semi-spectator-sports ensembles. You can have a wool dress with a shoulder cape which will be ideal for wear at a summer resort. For motoring nothing "hits the spot" as does a simple wool suit. Wool doesn't crush and wrinkle. You need something like that for motoring if you expect to look neat and well turned out when you arrive at your destination.

Weaves for summer woolen suits are much looser than those worn in fall and winter. Lacy weaves are chic and much cooler than the more tightly woven fabrics.

Cotton suits, especially linen and pique, are this season's own special innovation. Both of these fabrics make handsome suits for town wear and are an excellent choice for country or beach purposes.

Linen suits are, for the most part, quite tailored. You can have single or double-breasted coats with skirts which are pleated in handsome manner. Gay blouses and scarfs do much to dress up linen suits in natural linen shades. With black linen, of course, white blouses are smart.

The swagger linen and pique coats are almost necessary to the well-rounded wardrobe. You wear them with their matching skirts as well as over other separate dresses. Nothing is smarter for a summer evening wrap than one of these linen or pique swagger coats.

THIS single-breasted suit of heavy, uncrushable and non-shrinkable linen is a very practical outfit for summer. It washes beautifully.

The black and white bow tie is particularly striking since it carries out the color scheme of the black straw sailor hat, black and white buttons and ornate cord on the white linen purse.

Handsome for travel and for vacation wear is the hairy woolen gray ensemble consisting of simple dress and shoulder cape.

The dress is a one-piece affair with plain V neckline and a novelty leather belt. The cape is circular and has wide ties which cross at the throat and hang down the back.

The shallow crowned hat with medium brim is of the same material as the suit. A striking feather fancy and darker gray band of grosgrain ribbon trims it.

FURNITURE DEPARTMENT

Y. W. C. A. Has Interesting Program for Summer Term

The Young Women's Christian Association is offering an unusually interesting and stimulating program this summer, under the presidency of Miss Dorothy McKenzie, who recently attended a conference at Hollister, Missouri.

Last night Miss Darthula Walker, head of the Geography department took the girls on a delightful trip around the world.

"Some Indians I Have Known" will be the subject which Miss Angie Debo of the History Department will discuss on June 28. Miss Debo has written many articles about the Indians of Oklahoma, and recently wrote a "History of the Choctaw Nation" as a part of her work for the Ph. D. degree.

On July 5, Miss McKenzie and Miss Dorothy Fay Rusk will have charge of the evening with "A Night in Hollister" as their subject.

The final program of the First Term will be July 12 which has been designated "Drama Night." Regular meetings will be planned for the second half of the summer, and it is hoped that several students who have had interesting experiences will take part in the programs.

Town women who are interested in college life and college girls are invited to attend the meetings of the Y. W. C. A. and become acquainted with the student members. Meetings are held each Wednesday evening at seven-fifteen on the lawn in front of the Administration Building.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Children's Day exercises will take the place of the regular Sabbath School program. These exercises will be held in the basement of the church, and will begin promptly at 10 o'clock. Parents of the children of the school are particularly requested to be present.

At the eleven o'clock service members will be received into the church, and the Lord's Supper will be administered. This will be a joint communion service, participated in by the members of the Christian Church and the Presbyterian Church.

The Christian Endeavor service will begin at 7:30 p. m. The Young People of the College and the community will be heartily welcomed to this service.

Be sure to attend some church-ours if that is your choice.
